

Date: 13 August 2020

Gardens and their history offer solace during COVID-19

Get a glimpse of Australia's love affair with lawn, take a tour of the Geelong Botanic Gardens and meet Nathaniel Ronalds, a Victorian florist and nurseryman active in the Melbourne area in the late 19th century, in the journal for the Australian Garden History Society.

Other stories in the latest issue of Australian Garden History take readers into the garden of artist Hans Heysen and his family in the Adelaide Hills, and beyond our shores to Norfolk Island which, as well as its convict heritage, can boast the earliest surviving agricultural landscape in Australasia.

Australian Garden History is the much-loved quarterly journal of the Australian Garden History Society (AGHS).

—ends—

Contact the editor, Francesca Beddie, editor@gardenhistorysociety.org.au or 0418 645 181.

The Australian Garden History Society promotes awareness and conservation of significant gardens and cultural landscapes through engagement, education, advocacy and activities.